Dear Friends of YPM,

YPM is growing in outreach both to the Mayan-Mexican church and to U.S. mission-minded churches such as yours. We would be honored to visit you (church-congregation) in October/November/December 2007 to share highlights of the past year and our vision for the future.

Work is prayer; and prayer is work

Come and See missions give men, women, and teens, the opportunity to work alongside the Mayan-Mexican people we serve, helping them build the church and learning from one another that we are all members of God's family. More than construction goes on – we see a great deal of “faith-building” in Americans as they serve side-by-side throughout the day and fellowship together in the evening.

At long last a special team has installed our first water purification system at the YPM-base facility. Although it is difficult to imagine not being able to have ample, safe water, that is our neighbors plight who risk water-borne diseases within every use or drink. Even capabilities to boil water are beyond the means of many. Clean water is a blessing not to be taken for granted, so we are to help in providing it to families in our neighborhood.

Meeting physical and spiritual needs

We are supporting Mayan-Mexican men and women in seminary curriculum studies so they can minister to their villages in the churches already built or that we are helping to build. Plus, we were fortunate to receive again a medical team this year that stayed in a mission-clinic. The work goes on, and our dreams for YPM grow larger as we see Mayan-Mexican families spiritually enriched and American families grow stronger in their faith by our Come and See missions.

During our annual board meeting in September, we will make the decisions that will guide our path for the next year. We are eager to share our plans, the physical and spiritual needs of the Mayan-Mexican families, and to help your church family realize mission goals.

Would you welcome our visit? We will be in touch in August by calling you directly to confirm place, date and time. We look forward to talking to you and answering any questions that you may have.

Thank you for being part of the YPM family!

YPM Board of Directors.
